1 - Opening Scene

Rocky appears training, breathing heavily as he punches a heavy bag. (BAM, BAM, BAM).

Suddenly, the scene transitions to a boxing match between Rocky and a random fighter.

After taking several hard punches, Rocky is visibly injured, but he manages to knock the fighter out and celebrates.

He is then shown going to a local club he regularly frequents. As he goes to his locker, he gets into an argument with the janitor because his belongings have been disappearing.

Rocky: - Hey! You! Where's my stuff?

Janitor: - It's in the bag. Mickey told me to move it.

Rocky: - I've been coming here for six years.

Janitor: If you wanna argue, talk to him.

Rocky: - Where is he?

Janitor: - He's in the ring.

Rocky walks over to the ring and gets the attention of the trainer, who is training another fighter.

Rocky: - Mickey, what the hell was that about my locker?

Mickey: - It's not yours anymore. There's someone better in there.

Rocky: - Seriously? That locker is m—

Mickey: - Get out of here. I need to get back to training. You're not focused. You don't deserve it.

2 - Apollo's Offer

The scene cuts to Apollo appearing on a television broadcast. The narrator (Eric), heard in voice-over, announces that the undefeated champion is looking for a local fighter for a chance to face Creed for the title in a fight in Philadelphia. The same narrator will also announce and comment on the final fight. → cena do creed vendo o recorte de jornal em que o jornalista declarava que ele perderia o seu posto de campeão do pugilismo.

Apollo: - I want to give a local fighter an opportunity. Someone willing to step into that ring and face the champion.

Narrator: - Apollo Creed's team will now begin searching for a local fighter to face the champion. → excluir falas

Apollo: - So, Philadelphia... You really think this Rocky Balboa can beat me?

→ Dar zoom no rosto de Creed e, quando a câmera abre a imagem novamente, ele está na televisão desafiando Rocky a uma luta.

Rocky simply turns around and leaves the gym after the argument.

Outside, on the street...

Man: - Rocky Balboa?

Rocky: - Who wants to know?

Man: - I've got a proposition for you.

Rocky looks at him suspiciously.

Rocky: - What kind of proposition?

Man: - Apollo Creed. → Mudar ordem da cena, colocar pra depois que o apollo ver o recorte de jornal falando que o rocky é o próximo campeão.

Rocky discovers that Apollo Creed has selected him to fight for the title. He is initially surprised and accepts the opportunity, but he remains uncertain.

Rocky looks around suspiciously.

Man: - Rocky, you've been selected by Apollo Creed. It's gonna be a big fight.

Rocky: - Really? Apollo Creed? He's really good... I can't fight him. What if I lose?

Man: - You're already getting a chance that no other fighter around here has gotten. Now it's up to you.

Rocky looks toward the ring.

Rocky: - Okay... I'll fight him.

He walks away, still deep in thought, as the scene cuts.

3 - Training

Rocky is seen training, throwing punches at a heavy bag and going on runs. His body is clearly struggling to adjust to the intense training. When he reaches the main point of his run — THE STAIRS — he is completely exhausted and struggling to breathe.

Meanwhile, Mickey, his former trainer at the gym, finds out that Rocky has been chosen to fight Apollo Creed and offers to become his official trainer.

However, Rocky still feels resentment toward Mickey because of the way he treated him in the past. The two begin arguing, especially about Rocky's life and career.

Mickey eventually leaves, but Rocky decides to go after him and try to make peace.

Rocky arrives at the gym to train. Mickey is there and notices him.

Mickey: - So it's true?

Rocky: - What?

Mickey: - Apollo Creed. You're fighting him?

Rocky : - Yeah.

Mickey remains silent for a few seconds.

Mickey: - Then I'll be your trainer.

Rocky: - You?

Mickey: - Who else?

Rocky: - Funny... When I needed you, you were never there.

Mickey: - I tried to help you for years, Rocky. You never took anything seriously.

Rocky: - And now that I finally have a chance, you show up?

Mickey: - Because now you finally have something worth fighting for!

Rocky: - I always did.

Mickey: - Didn't look like it. You wasted your time, your strength... your whole career.

Rocky gets angry.

Rocky: - You think I don't know that?

Mickey: - Then why haven’t you ever done anything about it?

Rocky: - Because nobody believed in me!

Mickey remains silent.

Rocky: - Not even you.

Mickey looks at Rocky for a few seconds, grabs his things, and starts walking away.

Rocky: - You're leaving?

Mickey: - You don't need me.

Mickey leaves the gym.

Rocky stands there, thinking. After a few seconds, he grabs his things and goes after him.

Rocky catches up with Mickey.

Rocky: - Mickey!

Mickey stops, but doesn't turn around.

Rocky: - Wait.

Mickey turns around.

Rocky: - I shouldn't have talked to you like that.

Mickey: - And I shouldn't have given up on you.

The two remain silent for a few seconds.

Rockey: - So... you still wanna be my trainer?

Mickey looks at Rocky.

Mickey: - If you really wanna fight, yeah.

Rocky holds out his hand.

Rocky: - Then let's train.

Mickey shakes his hand.

Mickey: - Tomorrow. Early.

Rocky: - I'll be here.

The two walk back toward the gym together.

Rocky is seen training hard alongside Mickey, showing that they have made peace.

A training montage begins:

Rocky punching the heavy bag;

Rocky doing push-ups and sit-ups;

Mickey training him in the ring;

Rocky lifting weights;

Rocky practicing his punches and footwork;

Mickey correcting Rocky's technique;

Rocky continuing to push himself despite his exhaustion;

The training becomes increasingly intense.

Rocky begins another long run through the city.

He is tired, sweating, and struggling to breathe, but he keeps going.

He finally reaches the famous staircase.

Rocky struggles up the stairs, barely able to keep moving.

He reaches the top completely exhausted.

[FAMOUS ROCKY THEME MUSIC BEGINS]

Rocky slowly regains his strength.

He looks out over the city.

Then, with a determined expression, he raises his arms.

The training montage continues.

4 - Doubts

Rocky continues training for several days, but he slowly begins to realize the size of the challenge he has taken on. Apollo is a much more experienced and stronger fighter.

Cut to Rocky at home. He sits quietly, looking at the same photo of Adrian introduced in the opening scene. After a few seconds, he stands up, grabs his things, and heads to the gym.

At the gym, Mickey is preparing the training equipment. Rocky approaches him.

Rocky: - I don't think I'm ready, Mickey.

Mickey: - What's worrying you?

Rocky: - Apollo is the champion. What if he knocks me out?

Mickey: - Then you get back up.

Rocky: - Adrian believes in me. I wanna show her I can make it to the end.

Mickey: - Then keep fighting. You don't have to win to prove that.

Rocky: - I'm gonna keep going.

Mickey: - Then let's train.

Rocky begins training again, with Mickey beside him.

After several more days, Rocky is in much better physical shape and looks more prepared than before.

However, there are still doubts about what will happen when he finally steps into the ring against Apollo Creed.

5 - The Final Fight

The scene begins by showing the location where the fight will take place.

Apollo enters first, confident and greeting the crowd.

Narrator: - On one side, the undefeated champion, Apollo Creed!

Apollo enters the ring and raises his arms as the crowd cheers.

Shortly after, Rocky appears alongside Mickey.

Rocky looks more serious, showing that he is nervous, but determined.

Narrator: - And on the other side, the fighter chosen to face the champion... Rocky Balboa!

Rocky enters the ring and looks at Apollo.

Mickey approaches him before the fight begins.

Mickey: - No matter what happens, don't give up.

Rocky: - I won't.

Mickey: - You've trained for this.

Rocky simply nods and looks at Apollo again.

The referee enters the ring and calls both fighters over.

Referee: - I want a clean fight. When I tell you to stop, you stop.

Apollo looks at Rocky.

Apollo: - Good luck.

Rocky: - You too.

The Final Round

The final round begins, and both fighters are completely exhausted.

Both fighters remain still, breathing heavily.

The referee approaches them.

The Result

The referee calls both fighters to the center of the ring.

Referee: - Ladies and gentlemen, we have the judges' decision.

Rocky looks at Apollo.

Referee: - By split decision...

A pause.

Referee: - Apollo Creed!

Apollo raises his arms.

Rocky remains still for a few seconds, still trying to catch his breath.

Rocky returns to his corner. Mickey puts a hand on his shoulder. Rocky picks up the same photo of Adrian, which he left with his belongings before the fight. He looks at it and smiles, exhausted.

Rocky: - Adrian… I did it. I made it to the end.

Mickey: - You did, Rocky.

Narrator: - Rocky didn't win the fight. But he stayed standing until the end. For himself, and for the people who believed in him.

Rocky holds the photo as Mickey stands beside him and the crowd cheers.

(The soundtrack begins to play.)
